

I have a right to privacy in my own home, and a right to not be harrassed. I have made my opinion clear on how I stand by signing up for the DO NOT CALL list already. I have never done business with anyone over the phone as there are numerous "scams" that take place via the telephone. By retaining the right to remain on the DO NOT CALL list, it would help many people determine whether a phone call is a scam or not by the reasoning that if I'm on this list, and telemarketers are not able to call, then someone phoning me to buy something is more than likely not on the up & up. Please listen to the voices of private citizens. Thank you.
